

CONTENTS

	Page
Preface and Acknowledgements	v
Glossary of Terms	vii
Executive Summary	ix
PART A: INTRODUCTION
1. Overview
1.1 Introduction	1
1.2 Methods and approaches used in this Study	1
1.3 Outputs and timing	4
1.4 The structure of this Report	5
PART B: SEARCHING FOR IMPACT
2. Data and Data Quality	9
2.1 Introduction	9
2.2 Numbers of evaluations	9
2.3 Sample representativeness	/0
2.4 The quality of the evaluation reports	11
2.5 A dynamic and changing picture	13
3. Donor-Based Impact Studies	15
3.1 Introduction and approach	15
3.2 The achievement of objectives	18
3.3 Impact: livelihoods, poverty reach and alleviation of poverty	19
3.4 Sustainability	22
3.5 Cost-effectiveness	25
3.6 Innovation and flexibility	26
3.7 Replicability and scaling-up	27
3.8 Gender	27
3.9 Environmental impact	28
3.10 Democracy and pluralism	29
3.11 Factors contributing to project success and failures	29
4. The Country and Donor Case Studies	37
4.1 Introduction	37
4.2 France, Belgium and the European Commission	39
4.3 Finland	41
4.4 Norway and the Netherlands	41
4.5 The United Kingdom	43
4.6 The United States	44
4.7 Bangladesh and Brazil	45
4.8 Chile	47
(End p i)
4.9 Kenya	48
4.10 Senegal	49
4.11 Concluding comment	49
5. Thematic and Sectoral Studies of Impact	51
5.1 Introduction	51
5.2 Donors, NGOs, themes and sectors	51
5.3 Child Survival Programs	52
5.4 Microenterprise Innovation Projects	54

5.5 Capacity-building	57
5.6 Shift towards new partnerships	58

PART C: SEARCHING FOR METHODS

6. Introduction	63
7. Methods and Approaches in Donor-Commissioned Studies	65
7.1 Overview	65
7.2 Judging impact	67
7.3 Participatory evaluation and who evaluates	72
7.4 Implications of the donor-commissioned studies in terms of methodology	73
8. Methods and Approaches beyond the Donor-Commissioned Studies	77
8.1 Introduction	77
8.2 NGO views on evaluations	79
8.3 Evaluation methods and approaches used by NGOs	82

PART D: LESSONS LEARNT, RECOMMENDATIONS AND REACTIONS

9. Lessons Learnt and Recommendations	95
9.1 Introduction	95
9.2 Dangers of generalising	96
9.3 Ignomance and the need to improve access to knowledge	97
9.4 Enhancing impact	99
9.5 Enhancing methods	101
9.6 External and internal evaluations	103
9.7 Encouraging evaluation activity among smaller NGOs	104
9.8 Sustainability issues: development versus welfare	105
9.9 Using and misusing impact data	106
9.10 Follow-up	107
9.11 Disseminating the Report	108
10. Initial Comments on the Report	109
10.1 Introduction	109
10.2 Themes and issues raised	110
10.3 General NGO comments on impact evaluation and methods	114
10.4 Responses to the Study's conclusions and recommendation	115
10.5 Additional comments on the future: developing NGO guidelines?	117

(End p ii)

ANNEX A: REFERENCES CITED	121
---------------------------	-----

ANNEX B: GENERAL BIBLIOGRAPHY AND REFERENCES	131
--	-----

BOXES

Box 1 .1 Country/donor case studies	3
Box 3.1 List of donors whose studies are included in this synthesis	16
Box 3.2 Sustainability: conclusions from the Swedish study	24
Box 3.3 The factors contributing to or impeding success of NGO development projects or programmes	31
Box 5.1 Maternal and child health project evaluations in Latin America (1989 - 95)	60
Box 8.1 The role and application of participatory evaluation techniques	85

APPENDICES

(Available as a separate volume ISBN 951-724-151-8 from the Ministry for Foreign Affairs of Finland)

- Appendix 1 Country Case Study: Belgium
- Appendix 2 Donor Case Study: The European Community
- Appendix 3 Country Case Study: Finland
- Appendix 4 Country Case Study: France
- Appendix 5 Country Case Study: The Netherlands
- Appendix 6 Country Case Study: Norway
- Appendix 7 Country Case Study: The United Kingdom
- Appendix 8 Country Case Study: The United States
- Appendix 9 Country Case Study: Bangladesh

- Appendix 10 Country Case Study: Brazil
- Appendix 11 Country Case Study: Chile
- Appendix 12 Country Case Study: Kenya
- Appendix 13 Country Case Study: Senegal
- Appendix 14 Bibliography and References

(End p iii)