

Contents

1. Executive Summary	1
2. Introduction	8
3. History of NSP	10
1978-1986 Antecedents to the NSP	10
1986-1991 The Nutrition Surveillance Programme is established...11
1991-1995 Seeds of the Household Food Economy Approach	12
1995-2001: A focus on credibility and communication	15
1998-2001 Phase out of NSP	17
2001-2006 From nutrition surveillance to rapid nutrition assessments	18
Conclusions.....	20
4. Design of the NSP	22
Design strengths and weaknesses	23
The role of nutrition trend data.....	23
Coverage	24
Concentration on the under-fives	25
Food first bias	26
Appropriate nutrition indicators	26
Nutritional status as an early warning indicator of food crises	28
Nutritional status as an early warning indicator of humanitarian crises (increased mortality).....	31
The role of nutrition in EWS	32
Conclusions.....	33
5. Implementation of the NSP	35
Implementation strengths and weaknesses	35
Ensuring objective and high quality information	35
Lack of integration.....	36
Lack of capacity development.....	36
Separation between information and response.....	37
Dependence on agency core funding.....	37
Conclusions.....	38
6. Interpretation and use of information from the NSP	39
Views on NSP information.....	39
Disseminating the NSP findings.....	39
Follow-up and advocacy	40
The NSP warns of crisis and elicits a response	40
The NSP warns of crisis but is ignored	41
The NSP elicits a response by highlighting declines in nutritional status	42
The NSP fails to elicit a response due to over-emphasis on anthropometry	43

The NSP advocates for a non-food aid response.....	45
Conclusions.....	46
7. Sustainability	47
Financial sustainability	47
Systemic (institutional) sustainability	48
Cost effectiveness	49
Conclusions.....	52
8. Current nutrition situation	53
The changing donor and agency climate	53
Trends in malnutrition	54
Nutrition institutions	55
Nutrition strategy	57
Nutrition programmes.....	57
Conclusions.....	58
9. Role of nutrition information in Ethiopia today	59
Priority nutrition problems	59
Existing sources of nutrition information.....	61
Conclusions.....	65
10. Conclusions and lessons learnt	66
Design	66
Implementation.....	68
Use of data	70
Sustainability	71
11. Recommendations.....	72
Recommendations for SC UK Ethiopia Office	72
Recommendations for agencies involved in nutrition in Ethiopia	73
Recommendations for SC UK globally.....	76
Annex 1: Time-line of events in Ethiopia	80
Annex 2: Key Informants.....	82
Annex 3: Key Documents	83
Annex 4: Terms of Reference	87